DEDICA- TION

Love is an often over-worked word, but we could not describe the man to whom MILESTONE '77 is dedicated without using it. He is dearly loved, as a consequence of being so loving himself. This man's whole life has been spent in the field of education, out of a love for students like ourselves. He finds out the names of many students before they even know who he is. He has been described as "the sweetest man on the faculty," and as one who would bend over backward to help a student. In order to express our love in return, the staff of MILESTONE '77 dedicates this year's book to Dr. Watson Pindell.

STONE ACTIONS

THE BEGINNING

OUTDOOR FUN

Two new things were introduced on August 26, 1976 - Class Retreats Day and Slaban. They go together like cake and ice cream, and were just as enjoyable. Combine them with the All-College Picnic on Labor Day and you have a REALLY BIG BUNDLE of outdoor fun.

PARENTS' DAY

Parents' Day is one of the events sponsored by the Public Relations Department of the College. Its aim is to acquaint parents personally with what's going on on campus, and to give them an opportunity to meet the administration and faculty.

The morning hours of September 25, 1976, were filled with a variety of "get-acquainted" opportunities. Following registration and refreshments, a special program in the chapel included music, testimonies and a challenge from President Miles. From 11:30 to 12:00 noon, President Miles and faculty members greeted parents.

After lunch, everyone enjoyed watching a soccer game between the WBC soccer team and an alumni team, dubbed "the medicare team" by an even older observer. The fact that the WBC soccer team won the game doesn't support the validity of such a name for WBC alumni. In addition to the soccer game, the crowd watched the girls' field hockey team play during soccer half-time. Their opponents were other girls from the student body and Max Edgar. Max did a fine job being alone among all those girls; but his team lost.

Parents' Day, 1976, was a good day.

SPIRITUAL INTAKE

This year's Fall and Winter Lectures varied widely, yet each left lasting effects.

During the Fall Lectures, Pastor Albert Fesmire of Immanuel Baptist Church, Richmond, Virginia, spoke regarding discipleship. "Are you really following Jesus?" was the question asked as he encouraged each student to develop a "servant's spirit." Students reacted favorably to Pastor Fesmire's concern for their spiritual well-being. His ministry was greatly appreciated.

For the Winter Lectures, Dr. Duane Gish was invited to speak on the topic of evolution vs. creation. Through his scientific presentation, Dr. Gish related the facts of special creation to the truths of Scripture. Using the fossil record and other data, he showed the fallacies of evolution. While such lectures may not be necessary for a Bible college audience, through them Dr. Gish succeeded in strengthening the hearers' faith and "brightening the truth."

SPIRITUAL OUTREACH

Washington Bible College's "Week of Evangelism" is an event that everyone looks forward to. It's during this week that the college puts an extra emphasis on evangelism outreach. The evangelism week was November 4-10 this year, and it provided the students with a myriad of opportunities to spread the Gospel. The value of this week is seen in the unity developed on campus when triumphant reports of witnessing are shared. It is during this week that the student's interest is sparked toward personal evangelism. When the students saturate the neighborhood with the message of salvation, each spirit is kindled afresh with the realization that God is faithful. He's faithful in providing opportunities to witness, the proper words, and the blessed harvest. Praise God for opportunities to fulfill the great commission!

AN EVENING OUT

This year the annual Founder's Banquet was held November 19 at The University of Maryland Adult Education Center. Master of Ceremonies Mr. John Wiedenman, Treasurer of the Board of Trustees, steered the program throughout the four hours. This included music by Miss Audrey Jaggard, the Trombone Choir, the Women's Chorus, and the College Choir. Seminary Dean Dr. Homer Heater, Academic Dean Dr. Robert Woodburn, Board of Trustees Chairman Mr. Maurice Hauschildt, and Public Relations Director Mr. Robert Evans each gave reports concerning their respective areas of responsibility. Dr. Heater also received the Alumnus of the Year Award, presented by Alumni Association President Rev. Gary Dull. The evening concluded with a message by Rev. J. Richard D'Andre, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, Altoona, Pennsylvania.

"Uh-oh! Too much lemon in the punch again."

TIME TO RELAX

DAY-BY- DAY

STONE LEVELS

THOU STANDEST ON THE THRESHOLD

Thou standest on the threshold of days which are unknown;
Thou standest at the gateway of paths unmapped, unshown;
But God Himself is with thee -
thy Savior, Keeper, Friend;
And He will not forsake thee,
nor leave thee to life's end.

Thou standest, and thou askest,
"What hath the days in store?"
He answereth thee, "Blessing!
yes, blessing more and more."
What form that blessing taketh
thou mayest not yet know,
But blessing upon blessing
He waiteth to bestow.

Thou waitest - and He waiteth;
He waiteth now to bless,
To link His sovereign greatness
to human helplessness;
To show, through all life's journey,
His tireless care for thee;
To fill thy incompleteness with His sufficiency.

Thou pausest on the threshold - enfolded lies the year;
But, with God's arms beneath thee,
there is no cause for fear;
Through shadowed days or sunlit,
whate'er the year may bring,
This fact may be thy comfort -
God reigns in everything.

STONE CUTTERS

OUR PRESIDENT

In the four short years that I have seen President Miles in action, God has taught many lessons, given much comfort, and provided much guidance. Often in chapel I would sit in awe, wondering how God could have taught this man so much. The key to it all seems to be the fact that he is sold out to God.

To me, President Miles is a wise, sensitive, determined and good-humored man. Take away one of these qualities and you have lost the person of President George Miles.

President Miles' humility means much to me. Never before have I encountered a president who "lowered" himself to work in the garden, the drafting room, or wherever needed. It is a real challenge to me when I see the President in "work clothes." He's not too proud to work.

The Lord has used President Miles more than once in my days here at WBC to influence me in a positive way. I appreciate so much his boldness to speak what is on his heart, either from the Word or in personal testimony. His devotion to the Lord as his years increase encourages me that the Christian life is really worthwhile no matter how many obstacles must be crossed over. I am grateful that President Miles is our president, and for what he has done to make WBC what it is today.

President Miles has portrayed to me in these past four years a picture of practical spirituality. From the garden to the pulpit he has clearly expressed what it means to live a victorious Christian life.

One evening in January I heard President Miles express concern for a newly-arrived student from Africa. The weather was very cold, and he knew Africans don't bring any warm clothing with them when they come to the States. President Miles decided to go to the young man's room. He came back without his coat. Such a personal concern is nothing new.

I shall always be grateful for God's example of Christian love as shown through President Miles. His life has been given to this school, and he has a real desire that the students not only learn of God's love for them individually, but that they learn to share it with others.

Often, as President Miles has shared his joy over souls won to the Lord, I have been driven to pray that God would make me a better witness. How I thank God for His faithful witness, George A. Miles.

A real blessing I have received from President Miles comes from simple observations of his life. When on guard duty, I've seen him down working in the garden just after sunrise. I've also seen him down in the maintenance building working on plans for the college 'till late in the evening (when all presidents should be in bed). About two years ago, I was working maintenance, cutting trees with a chain saw. Along came President Miles. He picked up an idle chain saw and began buzzing up a storm. He worked hard for over an hour straight, and that's hard work. His dedicated life has complemented his spoken word, greatly influencing my life. President Miles has commitment, involvement and obedience to the Word right here in his bean field.

The text 'MOON STONES' is rendered in a white, hand-drawn, bubble-like font. The letters are thick and rounded, with some internal detailing. ADULT EDUCATION

There is an ever-expanding program at WBC which is an important part of many people's lives. This year, over 1,200 Christians - an all-time high - participated in the WBC Biblical Adult Education Program, the second largest in the United States. Classes were held on various nights of the week at 20 centers located in six different states (plus D.C.). Five of these centers were new this Fall. Seventy-one teachers, including WBC faculty and staff, Capital Bible Seminary students, and local pastors, devoted one or more evenings every week to instruct lay persons in God's Word.

As it has been in the past, most courses were one hour per week (with the exception of Beginner's New Testament Greek, a two-hour course held at the Lanham campus). The subjects offered included book studies and surveys, doctrinal studies, and courses in practical Christian living. The curriculum this year also included three college credit courses for those desiring to pursue more advanced studies.

STONE
SERVICE

The text 'STONE' is on the top line and 'SERVICE' is on the bottom line. Both words are rendered in a bold, rounded, sans-serif font where each letter is contained within its own circular outline. Below the word 'SERVICE', there are three horizontal, wavy white lines that resemble stylized water or a textured surface.

Keeping up with the Student Council this year has resulted in a full schedule of activities. Roller skating, party socials, musical concerts are only the beginning of an interesting and varied program. Who's responsible for it all? None other than those two dynamos, Gail Clugston and Wayne Hussa, and an idea-producing president, Tom Harris.

Of course, all the activity is not social. Through Council action, old projects have been completed and new ones begun. The street hockey fence has been installed, the student center has been renovated, and the barn has been converted into a center for students.

Concern for spiritual needs is exercised regularly through weekly student body prayer meetings, directed by Chaplain Tim Gregory. A major accomplishment for the year was the publication of the prayer booklet distributed early in December. As you pray, remember that the Student Council cares about you, the student, and needs to be upheld in prayer in all its endeavors.

INDIVIDUAL STUDY PROGRAMS

An additional arm of the Adult Education Program reaches into the home by mail and by radio, providing a less formal learning opportunity. The Correspondence School, existent for many years, continues to open doors of understanding through planned courses. "Morning Focus," a daily Bible study on radio station WFSI, is also organized with a planned study pattern. Listeners receive study guides from the Correspondence School upon request.

Separate from the two previous programs is the Ladies' Bible Study taught by President George Miles. On Tuesdays a study is conducted at the Lanham campus; on Thursdays a group meets in a private home. Both are long-standing studies and enrich a number of lives.

Steve Trout records a "Morning Focus" program.

STUDENT MISSIONS FELLOWSHIP

Student Missions Fellowship is the heart of missions on the Washington Bible College campus. Dedicated to the cause of missions, SMF seeks to confront each student as to his responsibility in God's total program for world missions. This is accomplished in four basic ways. First, SMF encourages prayer for missions by offering organized prayer bands in which each student may participate. Having a prayer band for every major division of the world, North America, Central America, South America, Islands of the Seas, Africa, Europe, Middle East, and Far East, students are able to blanket the world with prayer every Thursday evening. Secondly, SMF provides pertinent information concerning the mission field. This affords the student abundant resources to educate himself to the world of missions.

Islands of the Sea Prayer Band

Central America Prayer Band

Middle East Prayer Band

South America Prayer Band

North American Prayer Band

Far East Prayer Band

Thirdly, SMF attempts to challenge each student as to his role in world missions by presenting two mission conferences yearly, the Mini-Missionary Conference during the Fall semester and the Annual Missionary Conference during the Spring semester. Fourthly, SMF provides students with the opportunity to become actively involved in missions now by their giving and their going.

With a budget of $10,000, SMF has helped to send a team to the OM Christmas Crusade in Mexico, and hopes to send out summer missionaries to each of the eight divisions of the world, plus a team to Italy. Such opportunities play a vital part in the spiritual and social life at the Washington Bible College.

The SMF Council is thankful to God for the exciting increase of interest in missions on our campus this year. Never before have so many students shown an active and dedicated interest in missions as they have this year. SMF also gives a special thanks to the SMF council, to the faculty advisors and to the students who sacrificed to make this year's SMF program the best possible. The prayer and desire of this SMF council is that Washington Bible College become known as a Missionary school, and that the SMF program for next year will have an even greater impact on the student body for world missions.

CHOIR

"Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands." The college choir has a ministry that is unique. They can present the message of Christ and salvation via the soothing sounds of music. "The name of Christ" is the theme of the choir this year, and each song will in some way reverently adore the name of our Lord.

A vital part of the preparation for each concert is prayer. The spiritual bonds between the members is strong because they regard themselves as a body of believers in Christ, each working to serve God. This individual ministry continues as they enter the homes and have personal encounters with the families. God's love radiates from our choir, and that's the winning formula for a shining witness for Christ.

WOMEN'S CHORUS

Miss Patti Irvin, guest musician at the Christmas concert.

Measuring the impact of a musical ministry is very difficult, if not almost impossible. Yet there is a rod of measurement with any special group that conveys the essence of that group's potential influence. In the Women's Chorus, that rod might best be called, "the ministry within a ministry."

It all begins at rehearsal. A short devotional thought by one of the girls sets the mood. Then, words learned become songs that touch each heart. As one member phrased it, "The chorus is like a little family." To another member, being in the chorus has been an avenue of spiritual learning - "The Lord has really used it in my life. It has taught me a lot about humility."

When concert time comes, the excitement of participation permeates the atmosphere. "Every concert brings something special," says Sue Blake. All the things learned meld together, and the evidence of the inner working of the Lord provides the outward impact upon the listeners. But even while the influence of learning is projected, the learning goes on. Yes, the ministry within a ministry provides a rod for measurement.

TEAM MINISTRIES

Making melody for God is not the theme for the musical teams, but it might well be. The desire to glorify God through either voice or instrument provides the total impetus for each of the teams. This year, as always, their areas of ministry varied from sharing with fellow students to ministering to others in churches and at special meetings. An added joy was the opportunity they had to share their faith both during their musical presentation and afterward.

STUDENT VOICE

In 1976, the student newspaper acquired a new editor, a new name, and a secret helper. From behind a mask of secrecy, the Lone Arranger "organized" material for the Student Voice, and with frantic finesse, Editor Emmert and his staff produced an issue about every month.

Selfless giving of time by staff members.

Thanksgiving for: pictures that turned out; copy that fit; God's guidance in attitudes, actions; Christian fellowship; answered prayer; ideas that flowed; student interest.

Oneness of thought regarding staff decisions.

Never ending joy and peace in the midst of pressures and problems.

Excitement and anticipation about the finished product.

SOCCER

The WBC soccer team had another successful year in 1976. The final record of 3 wins, 8 losses, and 2 ties does not show the value of the team's season. The primary goal of the soccer team was not to win, but to be conformed to the image of Christ. According to Coach Lee Button, "The brightness of spiritual victory can sometimes best be seen in the darkness of physical defeat."

Although it was not the team's main goal, the Warriors succeeded in playing good soccer. The team put forth a worthy testimony for the Lord by their hustle, enthusiasm, and dedication, and by their ability to be humble winners and gracious losers.

BASKETBALL

Basketball is a game of hard bounces. For this year's Warriors, this was especially true. Pre-season optimism was shattered by 5 consecutive losses in the first 5 games. A different style of play characterized the much improved Warriors when they returned for the Spring semester.

One attribute of the '76-'77 basketball team was their consistently excellent testimony for the Lord Jesus Christ. This included witnessing to referees and even opposing players in their locker room. Many coaches, players, and officials commented on the fine attitude and excellent spirit of the team and its coaches. Although not many games were won on the court, all were won in their hearts.

CROSS COUNTRY

Cross country running is a grueling sport requiring sacrifice and discipline on the part of the runner. One might wonder why cross country is such a popular sport. All the runners on the WBC team concurred that this particular sport offered a definite opportunity for getting and staying in good shape. They also brought out the fact that running depends a great deal on the attitude of the mind. Controlled discipline of the mind and body is essential for the success of a runner.

The team members enjoyed a close fellowship among themselves, and with fellow runners on the courses. In interviewing the team members, each one stressed that everything was done to exalt the name of Christ, and to glorify Him. Our team is pressing toward the mark of obedience to the will of God as they present their bodies to Him as living sacrifices.

CHEERLEADERS

If you want vitality, activity and noise, then WBC has just what you're looking for. May we introduce the WBC cheerleaders - Becky, Lynne, Teresa, Mary and Rhonda?

At every sports activity, these five bundles of action were busy providing encouragement for the team and cheering leadership for the fans. "Great big Warriors," "Go, go, go"; "T-A-K-E, take it away!" "Basket, basket, basket, boys. You make the basket, we'll make the noise!" And they did just that.

Behind the scenes, the cheerleaders spent much time practicing these routines. But even more important, they spent time developing a relationship between themselves and their Lord, Jesus Christ. He has enriched their lives through their team fellowship, and has given added meaning to their chant, "Warriors, Warriors, Victory, Victory!"

Where did it go? . . . Where did it go?

Two new athletic teams appeared on campus this year - the women's field hockey and volleyball teams. Since 1976 was the first year for any organized extra-curricular competition for women, game opportunities were limited. But there was competition.

Finding a league for field hockey was a bit difficult, so the team played just four games. But the volleyball team participated in the Crusade Athletic Association, comprised of eight teams. Playing six to a team against an eight-member team of five men and three women, our girls played commendable volleyball.

Coach Kathi Owen maintains a very optimistic outlook toward women's athletics. With true feminine reserve she predicts, "Women's volleyball is going to be THE sport at WBC." Keep your eyes open!

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

What's neither boastful nor obvious, but always exciting? What else but the Women's Auxiliary. Each year their accomplishments become more astounding. In 1976 they followed the established pattern for excellence, under the guidance of Mrs. Martha Evans, President. Through the project promotion of Mrs. Irene Edgar, Projects Chairman, the Auxiliary has provided a process camera for the print shop, is making new draperies for the girls' dormitory, and plans to "make" bricks for the new seminary building - at four per dollar.

The Auxiliary's ministry of giving is not limited to material needs only. Their continual prayer support for both current students and the alumni is an encouragement to everyone. On behalf of the WBC student body, the MILESTONE says "Thank you, Women's Auxiliary. We salute you with thanksgiving in our hearts and praise unto God."

Mrs. Edgar introduces a special size brick.

A bow of welcome is pinned on a new member.

The Auxiliary motto: We fund it.

Mrs. Martha Evans, President

STUDENT WIVES FELLOWSHIP

Sweet, wonderful fellowship. Does that expression describe an experience in your life? Then you know what Student Wives Fellowship means to all who participate.

This year has been a particularly enjoyable one. Programs have dealt with practical needs, and socials have ranged from a spaghetti dinner to a country crafts fair to an ice cream social. Woven through it all has been the joy of getting to know one another better. Sweet, wonderful fellowship makes Student Wives Fellowship a nice night out.
